

Executive Director
The Association of Newfoundland Land Surveyors

Governed by provincial statute (The Land Surveyors Act, 1991), the Association of Newfoundland Land Surveyors (ANLS) is a self-regulating organization with the responsibility to regulate the practice of professional Land Surveying in the province of Newfoundland and Labrador, with a primary focus on protecting the public interest.

The Association of Newfoundland Land Surveyors (ANLS) is currently seeking an Executive Director.

Reporting to the ANLS Council of Management, the Executive Director will implement initiatives and priorities to enhance the delivery and quality of ANLS services. The ideal candidate must be a motivated and self-directed individual with demonstrated management and strategic leadership skills, and post secondary education in a relevant field. The successful candidate must have the ability to work effectively with a variety of stakeholders including business, all levels of government, and the public. A primary aspect of the position will be increasing public awareness of the Association and advocacy on behalf of the ANLS. Accordingly, the Executive Director must possess superior communications skills. Experience with self-governing associations and/or the Land Surveying profession is preferred.

The Executive Director will also play a role in the day-to-day management of the ANLS, including administrative and financial planning.

For more information about the ANLS visit: www.surveyors.nf.ca.

The position will be based in the ANLS office, located in St. John's. This is a one-year contract with the intention to renew. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications. Applicants should provide salary expectation. All applications are confidential.
